Itinerary Overview

Travel in Morocco following ancient caravan routes of the Magreb. You delve deep into the exotic culture and diverse landscapes from the walled Imperial Cities seemingly suspended in time, through scenic high-Atlas Mountain passes and cliff-clinging kasbahs, among remarkably well preserved Roman ruins and the shifting dunes of the mighty Sahara. Colorful and vibrant Marrakech and the medieval souk of the Fez medina are introductions to Morocco’s rich history. What really makes your Morocco Wildland Adventure extraordinary are our connections in local communities and the gregarious hospitality, flavorful cuisine and lavish Moorish-style of the boutique accommodations. Our in-depth exploration of the Magreb’s history and culture lifts the veil on a society balanced between an enchanting past and a vibrant role in the modern world. This itinerary can easily be adapted as a private custom trip with many options we can suggest according to your time, special interests and style of travel.

Itinerary in Detail

Day 1: Rabat
On arrival in Casablanca, meet your friendly driver-guide and depart for Rabat (or fly direct to Rabat). Time permitting, visit Casablanca’s magnificent Hassan II Mosque, heralded as the second largest mosque in the world. Morocco’s modern capital of Rabat is the first ‘Imperial City’ on our Wildland Adventure. It’s the official residence of King Mohammed VI and home to the Mohammed V Mausoleum, as well as the remains of the Hassan Tower built in 1196 ACE, which provide an excellent introduction to Moroccan history. Enjoy your first glimpse of Moroccan culture during a short walk through the narrow passageways of the Oudayas Kasbah, admiring the decorative doors and immersed in the sights and sounds of daily Moroccan life. Overnight local Rabat guesthouse. [D] (Drive 2 hrs)

Note: Your sightseeing itinerary en route to Rabat is tailored to your international flight arrival time in Casablanca. Direct flights from Europe to Rabat eliminate the 2.5 hour transfer to Casablanca. Dinner not included on Sunday arrivals.

Day 2: Meknes – Volubilis – Fez
Head east to the next ‘Imperial City’ of Meknes. With its famous gate of Bab El Mansour, the impressive Dar Jamai Palace, the Royal Stables, and the tomb of Moulay Ismail; this lesser-visited city is worthy of a dedicated visit because the brutal and ambitious sultan turned Meknes into a royal city, aiming at challenging Versailles with enormous palace grounds. Due north lies Volubilis, a UNESCO World Heritage Site and Morocco’s largest and best-preserved Roman ruins of colonnaded streets, buildings and elaborate mosaics. Off in a short distance stop to absorb the beauty and special ambiance of the cobbled streets of Moulay Idriss -- a sacred city named after fourth generation and sainted descendant of Mohamed, the founder of Islam in Morocco and founder of the city of Fez -- your final ‘Imperial City’ where a scrumptious Moroccan feast is served. Overnight local Fez riad. [BD] (Drive 3 hrs)

Day 3: Fez
The mesmerizing call to dawn prayer begins slowly and builds to a crescendo as each of a hundred minarets joins the chorus, a sound integral to Fez and one that has echoed each morning through this exquisite walled city for over 1400 years. The former capital of Morocco, Fez remains Morocco’s leading intellectual and religious center as well as a fascinating cultural hub. Meet your private specialist guide to discuss the options of what you’d like to see and do most: walk through the bustling medina with proposed visits to a tannery, wool souk (market), spice shops, and stalls loaded with dates and olives, giving you a thorough immersion into Moroccan mercantile life. As your guide introduces you to local people whose artistic talents have been passed from generation to generation, you begin to understand the web of traditions that make Moroccan culture so enduring and rich. Walking through the maze of narrow passageways, you have the chance to visit Qaraouine University, the Madrassa (Quranic school), and the Moulay Idriss II memorial, all windows into local life, education and religion. Lunch in a local restaurant in the medina is an immersion into the world of Moroccan spices, olives, and specialty dishes. For those who have an extra day to explore Fez, we can arrange a cooking session to learn about preparing delicious Moroccan cuisine: whether it be couscous, tagine (meat stew), and traditional Moroccan soup called harira. Overnight local Fez riad.

DAY 4: ATLAS MOUNTAINS TO ERFOUD

Watch the dramatic changes in landscape as our route ascends through the Middle Atlas Mountains over the pass into the vast Sahara Desert. The terrain on this full-day drive is varied and includes forests of giant cedar, high arid mountains, and flattening foothills of scrub as you drop into the vast Saharan desert that stretches endlessly before you. Following a centuries-old caravan route, you pass through the Beni Mguild Berber capital of Midelt, an important center for local carpet making. You begin to see ksars (fortified strongholds) along the way to Errachidia and Erfoud. From April through October we stop to walk in the Middle Atlas Mountains around the cedar forests of Azrou to visit a local women’s association who create gastronomy and beauty products from handpicked local herbs. Travelers with an extra day seeking more active and in-depth experience can pass the night in a basic guesthouse in Midelt in order to reduce the day’s drive and have more time to hike and explore the forests, wildlife and local communities of the Middle Atlas. Overnight in Xaluca Erfoud or similar.

[BD] (Drive 7 hrs)

DAY 5: SAHARA DESERT ENCAMPMENT

Your immersion into life in Sahara begins with an excursion to the Tifilalt Oasis in the Ziz Valley. Our local host accompanies you on a walking tour of his village introducing you to family farmers of this fertile valley, before you enjoy lunch at his family’s humble home. In the Holy City of Rissani you visit the Mausoleum of Moulay Ali Sherife, Ksour Abdel Hamid and the Abdel Malik Kasbah before heading into the vast Sahara. As the day cools and the desert colors intensify, you mount camels at the edge of the dunes. Accompanied by indigenous Touareg nomads in their famous blue-dyed turbans, ride into the Erg Chebbi, a vast expanse of huge, drifting sand dunes. Touregs are truly masters of their domain: Centuries ago, Toureg turned the deadly Saharan sands into a trading route using their ‘ships of the desert’ (camels) to transport goods as varied as dates and gold bullion from the Atlantic coast across Africa to Lake Chad. The sunset changes and deepens the hues of this mystical landscape as your surefooted dromedaries transport you to our deluxe desert encampment for the night. After a cold drink and a delicious dinner, retire on carpets and pillows around the fire under a vast star-lit desert sky to ponder... the imponderable, and to marvel at the comfort of your private well-appointed tent with mattress beds, linens, towels, pillows and Berber rugs with en-suite bath including wash basin, mirror, toilet and hot shower facilities. Or, if you prefer not to camp we can arrange for you to stay in a Kasbah hotel on the edge of the desert, in which case you can still enjoy a camel ride at sunset or sunrise. Overnight Deluxe Desert Encampment (or Kasbah hotel) [BLD] (Drive 3 hrs)

DAY 6: VALLEY OF THE KASBAHS TO SKOURA

This is an exciting day from dunes to desert and hikes to villages and Ksar fortresses in the Valley of Kasbahs. Awaken before dawn to saddle your camel for a short ride through the dunes to watch the sun rise over the desert horizon. The true solitude and beauty of the Sahara reveals itself only in such moments. Depart camp in 4x4 for a beautiful day exploring the farms, villages and traditional homes through the Valley of Kasbahs. In the town of Tinjedad we walk through part of a Ksar, a surreal roofed village of eighty families living in a complex maze of adobe streets and housing, including the small Berber museum of El Khorbat recounting the story of the indigenous tribes of the region. You’ll have an opportunity to stretch your legs and get a feeling for daily life on a two to three-hour easy hike in the picturesque irrigated palmerie of the Dades Valley where families tend to their crops. After lunch at a favorite local restaurant our route approaches Klaat Mgouna, where in springtime the valley is filled with the dusky pink of the Damascus rose, their essence prized by the elite of French perfumers. The best activity at the end of the day in our hidden garden oasis is no activity at all! Relax and enjoy this serene environs and lovely room in this restored Berber-style accommodation among the palm plantations and olive groves. Overnight Jardins de Skoura or Dades Kasbah. [BLD] (Drive 6 hrs)

DAY 7: AIT BEN HADDOU – TELOUET – MARRAKESH

Arise early for a morning walk to see the start of the day and the colors of the sunrise on the red soils and glowing walls of the kasbahs. Down the road stop at Ait Ben Haddou, once a fortified ksar and now a UNESCO World Heritage Site, the setting for many desert films including Lawrence of Arabia and more recently, Gladiator with Russell Crow. After a brief exploration of this popular site you walk through to the lesser known and more impressive area of Telouet, center of the former Glaoui family who ruled over the south of Morocco before they were overthrown by the current monarchy. The road to Marrakesh ascends over the High Atlas Mountains on a sinuous route with spectacular views over Tizi-n-Tickka (7,417 ft) -- the highest pass in Morocco. Descending on the other side into the foothills the landscape turns green with oaks, walnut groves and oleander bushes. Arriving in Marrakesh by afternoon, there’s time to explore the narrow streets, shops and markets before dusk. As the sun sets the Djemaa el-Fna square comes alive with an array of jugglers, storytellers, snake charmers, musicians and soothsayers. Mouth-watering aromas waft through the medina from the many rows of open-air food stalls. Enjoy the opportunity to walk around, photograph and be amazed! Dinner and overnight local Marrakesh riad. [BD] (Drive 5 hrs)

DAY 8: MARRAKESH
Prepare for a full-day private guided adventure delving into this distinctly Magrebi city's history. Marrakesh has for centuries been Morocco's southern capital, competing with Fez not just metaphorically but militarily and religiously too. Posterity has lost many architectural masterpieces through such conflicts. Of those that remain, tour the Palais de la Bahia which housed Bou Ahmed's four wives, 24 concubines and numerous children, and visit the Saadian Tombs, the royal burial ground of the Saadian dynasty. There is so much to experience in this vibrant city we keep it flexible: based on your time and interest your guide will accompany you walking among the narrow streets and shops of the old city, view the extensive Berber collection of clothing, jewelry, textiles, doors, baskets and carpets at the Maison Tiskiwin, and/or on a walk through Jardin Majorelle, the extensive gardens of French painter Jacques Majorelle with a collection of plants from five continents. You may want to end your Morocco adventure with an invigorating Moroccan spa (reservation required, not included) or retreat to a rooftop restaurant for a drink and aerial view of the busy market below. Dinner is open for you to select from any number of exquisite Moroccan restaurants your guide can recommend where you can celebrate and reminisce about your adventures. Overnight local Marrakesh riad. [BL]

DAY 9: DEPARTURE OR TRIP EXTENSION
Transfer to the airport for your flight to Casablanca to connect with your return flight home, or extend your Morocco vacation with a few days in the artistic coastal town of Essaouira. [B]

END OF SERVICES
Actual routes and activities may vary. Local trip coordinators reserve the right to change accommodations to similar quality alternatives.

Principal Trip Leader

Kamal Abdelfadil

Kamal has been working in tourism since 1995 when he started leading excursions for a large hotel in his southern-Moroccan mountain town of Tinerhir. As the only English speaker and trained guide in the region, he led travelers on assignment into the Dades Valley and beyond into villages within the palm groves and Kasbah valleys. He is skilled at immersing guests into local culture and tradition especially craft, music and cuisine, religion, and architecture. Gaining recognition as a specialist Morocco guide throughout his country, he was recruited by the international film industry in 2006 to work as a personal liaison, translator, and trip leader with VIP client rosters from around the world. His film and TV list includes the Amazing Race and Journey to Mecca, the story of Ibn Battutah. Speaking English, French, Tashelheit (Berber), and Arabic, Kamal is now our first go-to guide for Wildland travelers who appreciates our style of travel sharing his passion and knowledge of Berber culture and history, as well as an openness to discuss aspects of religion, family and rural life. His current projects include in-depth study of Berber history, architecture, and agriculture, as well as Berber and Gnawa spiritual music. Kamal personally engages with Wildland travelers to pursue your special interests taking our travelers off the beaten path and deep into the culture of his homeland.

Note: Although Kamal is our first go-to guide, we also work with equally exceptional, experienced, fun and friendly driver-guides who accompany you through your Wildland Adventure. They in turn introduce you to local specialist regional guides along the way.
OUR WILD STYLE IN MOROCCO

Our 'Wild Style' of travel in Morocco is based on many years of experience designing Wildland Adventures throughout the Magreb. The design of our itineraries and your experience in the field is facilitated by our close-working relationships with guides, accommodations and outfitters on the ground to avoid the pitfalls of travel in Morocco. We assure you have the most comfortable, safe and authentic experience based on the following 'Wild Style' of travel in Morocco:

- Our gregarious, honest, and informed driver-guards help you get the most out of your trip, especially to facilitate personal connections with locals you meet along the way. They understand that you, as a Wildland traveler, have come to experience the beauty of the landscape, to meet local people, discover Moroccan culture and learn about politics, religion and family life, not just to be lectured on history and architecture, or to spend time shopping (unless you ask to do more).
- Wages paid to our local staff are higher compared to other companies, and tips for guides, drivers and other assistants like the desert camp crew are now included in the price of your trip. As a result, our guides and drivers concentrate on your experience instead of making frequent shopping stops to earn extra commission so ingrained in most Moroccan tour guides.
- Flexibility is the key! On custom trips we’ll plan your itinerary to fit your schedule, special interests, level of activity, and your personal style. On all Wildland Adventures in Morocco, once you are there our driver-guides make adjustments to tailor your daily experience as it occurs.
- We maintain close working relationships with local communities and individuals throughout Morocco who invite you into their homes to experience family life, and who act as your ambassador taking you into villages, fields and markets to meet local farmers, shepherds, merchants, artisans, and students for more in-depth encounters and insights of daily life.
- We combine the popular highlights of Morocco with opportunities to get off the beaten path where you can walk, hike and explore lesser-known places where fewer travelers venture.
- Meals are carefully planned to provide a full culinary experience in a variety of settings from local homes and picnics, to regional cafes, markets and our favorite restaurants specializing in a diverse selection of traditional imperial dishes including some with modern twists to experience the full flavors, aromas and techniques of the Moroccan kitchen. It's too easy to get "tangined" or "cous-coused" out! We also allow time for you to explore and enjoy some meals on your own.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Roads in Morocco are often narrow and windy in mountain passes and many secondary roads are unpaved. Therefore, driving speeds in rural areas are slow. Driving times indicated from point to point between cities and regions on this trip vary due to conditions and frequency of stops; altogether the longest day can be up to 8 hours from Fez to Erfoud. Times estimated are inclusive of planned stops, not just time sitting in the vehicle.

“What I enjoyed the most about the trip were the visits with families and stopping for lunch in the Middle Atlas at the small farms. The planned and unplanned encounters with the people were very meaningful for me and I was overwhelmed with the generosity, kindness and simple joy of everyone we met. I really appreciated the focus on such excellent Moroccan cuisine and the cooking lesson with the family in Zaouia d'Ifrane. I also loved the Sahara and the camel rides...very beautiful! It was nice to have a small group of people on the trip, and made it more enjoyable for me.”

ACCOMMODATIONS

Our portfolio of Moorish-style Moroccan boutique hotels, riads and kasbahs are handpicked to reflect the history, architecture and terroir of the landscape providing travelers a true lifestyle experience of traditional Moroccan hospitality, design and decor. Riads and guesthouses are very small and fill up quickly so we do not publish the names of some preferred accommodations until we confirm your trip in order to protect the work that goes into finding the most stylish and amazing places for you to stay. For each departure we reserve the flexibility to select from a variety of comparable properties that have been carefully selected. If you seek more luxury we also offer luxury Morocco accommodation typically featuring more space, stylish design, and even more professional and personal guest service including lavish spa facilities--they are fabulous! Below are descriptions of properties we use which represent the style and level of accommodation you can expect on our 4* level. We are happy to provide specific names and descriptions of the properties we use after speaking with you about your travel plans. We proceed to confirm specific accommodations upon receipt of your reservation. It’s best to book at least 6 months in advance for travel in Sep-Oct and Mar-May for best choices.

RIAD KALAA GUESTHOUSE, RABAT
Riad Kalaa is an oasis in the heart of the bustling medina of Rabat. The original building was constructed in 1815 and a thorough and lengthy restoration has transformed this traditional Moroccan abode into a lovely and intimate guest house. Eleven rooms and suites are individually decorated and feature central heating, wi-fi and a safe-deposit box. Some of the larger suites have a fireplace. The architecture of the riad is quite unique, with nooks and cubbies, terraces, alcoves and salons, ensuring an intimate, harmonious and restful ambiance for guests.

FEZ RIADS
There are numerous small former grand mansions, now stylishly renovated into lavish boutique riads full of historic charm and modern amenities. Centered around an interior courtyard with trees and a fountain, room categories typically range from standard double, to a range of suites that accommodate romantic couples or small families. All rooms typically feature TV, mini-bar, and air-conditioning/heating. Services include restaurant serving traditional Moroccan cuisine and international faire, bar, library, wi-fi, laundry, money exchange.

"While traveling with Wildland is in touch with nature and local culture, it is also traveling in opulent style, but not ostentatious or pretentious; the riads were unbelievable. In Fes, when we pulled up to the fancy hotel, I was like, oh wow! Then my guide said you’re not staying here but in a riad, and proceeded to walk with me down narrow, not that well-lit streets to a big brass door. We walked in......and of course my jaw hit the floor. How unbelievable.......and every place we stayed was of equal grandeur in its own way."

Moroccan Adventure
Desert Kasbahs

On the edge of the Sahara Desert in Erfoud and Rissani our accommodations are restored or newly built kasbah style hotels. They are boutique properties of great character in the architectural style of a stone fortress that was traditionally part of the Arab quarters in which resided the local ruler. Single and double rooms and suites are decorated Moorish style and fully equipped with A/C, heater, sometimes with a private patio or deck. Strategically positioned close to the Erg Chebbi Dunes hotel facilities include a restaurant, bar, swimming pool, laundry service, money exchange.

Deluxe Desert Encampment, Erg Chebbi

Our deluxe encampment in the dunes of Erg Chebbi is set away from other camps with a view to preserving the serenity of your desert experience. Electricity provides low light in guest tents and the high dining tent festooned with carpets and pillows Moroccan style, or chairs and tables for your comfort. Carpets and pillows are set outside around a fire pit for relaxing under the stars. Spacious Bedouin style private guest tents have twin or double beds on frames above ground with linens and pillows on carpeted floors with a night table. Ensuite bath features sink, mirror, toilet and hot shower. Food is home cooked and tasty.

Riad Ksar Ighnda, Ait Ben Haddou

On the edge of the desert at Ait Ben Haddou, Riad Ksar Ighnda opens its doors for you onto the Atlas Mountains where the stunning light shines on a setting of natural beauty. Six bedrooms (twins and doubles), six large suites and a family apartment (three bedrooms) all comfortably outfitted with a/c, satellite TV, safe, telephone, and mini-bar. All rooms and suites are decorated in different styles and offer views of the village and the valley beyond. This hotel features complementary wi-fi in the restaurant/bar area.

Marrakesh Riads

Marakesh riads are charming guest houses located in quiet neighborhoods and side streets throughout the city. Originally a royal palace or home, they have been lovingly renovated in the traditional Hispano-Moresque style of architecture, each retaining many of their authentic features. Rooms and suites are lavishly decorated in their own signature style, typically with table and chair, television, wi-fi, telephone, safe and hair dryer. Many riads have a refreshing swimming pool and a large courtyard naturally shaded by orange trees, some with views of the Atlas mountains and the rooftops of the Medina.
